Prowlers Pilfer Number of Cars Wednesday Night

Wednesday night a series of car prowlings was reported over widely scattered parts of town. Sheriff Cantrell said that in each case the doors of the car had been left open. The only object reported as being taken in the prowling was a pack of raisins.

In each case glove compartments were pilfered and contents strewn over the car. Two people were seen leaving the car in one instance. The couple was reported to have used a flashlight in pilfering and going about the matter in a nonchalant manner.

Authorities believe that the vandals used a car to drive over town. And when they saw a car they wanted to pilfer they would park some distance from it and walk the rest of the way. The manner in which they were pilfered indicated that the same group was involved in each case.

Sheriff Cantrell said that these incidents played up the importance of keeping cars locked which remain outdoors. None of the cars were reported as having the key in them, otherwise some might have been taken, the sheriff pointed out. When it is necessary to leave cars outside, they should be locked, maintained Sheriff Cantrell.

Canyon FFA Boys Winners Tuesday With 2858 Points

Canyon High School's crop judging teams not only walked off with top honors in the Amarillo District FFA judging contest in Amarillo yesterday afternoon but members also took all four individual honors. Eleven teams competed with the winners eligible to compete in the Area XI competition April 26 at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

The Canyon team rolled up a total of 2,858 points out of a possible 3,020 points to defeat the Amarillo team with 2,589 points. Vega placed third in the contest.

High point boy was Wayne Rutherford of Canyon with 959 points out of a possible 1,020.

In the three divisions of the contest, Jimmy Kuhlman of Canyon was high in identification and grading with Rutherford placing first in judging. Other members of the team was Jack McCormick. Alternate was Foster Parker.

Banners presented the three winning teams were given by Interstate Elevator, 1619 Johnson, Amarillo.

The contest, sponsored by the Amarillo Chapter of which Herb Davis is advisor, was held in the high school agriculture department. Mr. Davis, Waylon Carroll of Canyon, advisor of the winning team, and Jess Robinson, advisor of the Vega team, graded the papers.

Action Slow on Widening Highway 87 Underpass

Efforts continue on the part of city officials to get the underpass north of town widened. Last fall a trip was made to Austin and the results of it looked very encouraging for awhile.

More recently letters have been written by Mayor A. L. Walsh in an attempt to speed up action on the proposed work project. Last week the mayor received an answer to the letter written to the Highway Department in Amarillo on March 27.

The letter verifies the fact that the work of widening the underpass has been authorized but goes on to say that no funds have been authorized for the project as yet. The letter did give a glimmer of encouragement by stating that a new federal program of work was in the process of being prepared. This program, it was stated, will include the proposed work on the underpass.

Appreciation was expressed in the letter for the interest and cooperation which Canyon officials have shown in the matter of the underpass and highway matters. City officials feel sure that the job will be done but they have no hint as to when it will start.

7,000 License Plates Issued In Randall Co.

With the close of the automobile license paying period ended, a total of 7,000 plates for Randall county were issued at the close of business on April 2, according to Bill Money, tax collector.

This is an increase of 1200 over the payment received last year.

Mr. Money states that South Amarillo sold about 1,000 more plates than were sold in Canyon this year.

According to the local office, 5,250 license plates were issued for automobiles this year. In 1951 at the close of business on April 1, the total of all kinds of plates numbered 5842, as compared with the total of 7000 for this year.

Mystery Items Held by Sheriff

Several items which appear to have been lost, strayed or stolen, have found their way to the sheriff's office. The report to The News stated that such items as flashlights, car tools, a 22 caliber rifle and a high school class ring were among the objects being held.

The items were explained as having found their way to the sheriff's office under suspicious circumstances. At least a part of them were believed by authorities to have been stolen. No definite action has been taken concerning the articles. This will have to wait until more definite information is received upon the articles now held at the sheriff's office.

A spokesman for Sheriff Cantrell's office said that the boys caught with the articles had already been instrumental in clearing up 12 cases the department had been working on.

Two juveniles are being held in the Amarillo detention home by order of the County Judge in connection with the cases.

CHS Music Groups Win at WT Festival

The speech class of Canyon High School, under the direction of Mrs. Cecil Massey, won third place in District I with their production of the one-act play, "Andante". The class had previously put on the play before the student body in an assembly in order that they might gain experience in acting before their contest performances.

Castor bean growers of Randall County are invited to attend a meeting on production and marketing of this new crop. The meeting will be conducted by the Baker Castor Bean Co. Thursday night at 8:00 p. m. in the courthouse in Canyon will be the time and place of meeting.

This new crop has become quite prominent in agriculture of the high plains in recent years. A few acres were produced in Randall County last year and a few neighboring counties had a sizable acreage.

The purpose of the meeting will be to interest new growers here. The many phases of production including land suitability, varieties, special equipment, cultivating and harvesting and marketing will be covered. All interested in this meeting are invited to attend.

Buffalo Band Concert to be Given Thursday

West Texas State College's department of music is presenting the Buffalo Band in a popular concert tomorrow evening in the Administration Building Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Charles Emmons will be the guest conductor. W. O. Latson will conduct, with his assistant, W. C. Swatzell. Hurshele Journey McCarty will be the piano soloist featured at the concert.

Since 1917 the Buffalo Band has been an important factor in school activities. Dr. W. R. Clark became the head of the music department in 1917, at which time the band was a part of the army training program on the campus.

Because of the increased activities of the band and an ever growing popularity, it was decided to create a separate post for the job of band director. This position was filled by W. B. Brothers who remained with the institution two years before C. E. Strain became the director.

Mr. Strain remained with the institution as band director until 1942 when he retired. His successor was M. J. Newman who remained until 1944. Mr. Newman entered the Navy and Glenn A. Truax became temporary director of the band. When Mr. Newman returned from the Navy he placed special emphasis on concert work. Under his guidance the Concert Band became one of the most impressive musical organizations in the Southwest.

At present Mr. Newman is on leave of absence and the band is under the direction of William O. Latson. Latson is a former member of the band and was assistant director under Mr. Newman last year.

Mrs. C. A. Murray returned from Rule Tuesday. She has been attending her sister, Mrs. Oswald Cole, who had undergone a major operation. Mrs. Cole is well on the road to recovery.

Paul McClung, pastor of the Dawn church, will deliver the sermon from the top of a hill which rises out of the red bluffs of the Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River. A choir will be stationed some 100 feet below and it is estimated that a crowd of 10,000 can see and hear the service.

Officials of the Dawn church will have charge of the arrangements and additional employees are being readied to handle the admissions at the gate. All facilities at the park will be closed until after the service. The usual admission charges will be made and the concessionaire's part will be donated to the building fund of the Dawn church.

Frank Klein, an Umbarger farmer, was killed when his car overturned early Tuesday morning. Mr. Klein was returning home after taking his daughter, Mary Ann, to school.

The accident had a tragic irony in that it occurred on Mr. Klein's 59th birthday.

The body was brought to the Griggs-Warren Funeral Home pending arrangements for final rites.

Postal Receipts Show Increase

Postal receipts for the first quarter of 1952 show a total of $10,984.41. This figure represents an increase of more than $2,000 over the same period for last year.

The quarter ending in March of last year showed a total of $8,558.84.

Postal receipts are one of the best indications of continued or increasing prosperity. The figures shown represent the amount of revenue acquired by the Post Office through stamp sales, registered and insured packages and other miscellaneous sources.

The increase in the total quarterly figure is a definite sign that more people are doing a greater volume of business at the Post Office.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Independent Voters Will Elect President

A lot of things may happen between now and the national conventions when presidential candidates will be named.

More things may happen between then and the November election.

As we view the situation now, it looks very much like Kefauver in the Democratic corner; with Eisenhower as his opponent.

One thing is sure and certain: Neither of these candidates are acceptable to the old guard of either party, and certainly this group will do everything within their power to defeat these two leading candidates in the national conventions.

It is further apparent that the day of gag rule is just about over. Neither of the parties will be able to put the brass collars around the necks of the voters and demand that they support such and so candidates, which are acceptable to the old guard.

That is one reason why the Democrats of Texas will demand that their delegates go uninstructed to the State and National Conventions. There is a decided movement among the voters that they shall be free from boss rule, which has been the case during past years while the bosses instructed the delegates how they should vote, regardless of the will of the people.

As we view the situation, the voters who wish to send delegates instructed will find themselves hard pressed for a candidate with the retirement of Truman from the race. We hardly believe that he could now be drafted, although there will be a decided move to do this very thing since he has retired from the race.

Eisenhower Made Hit With the Taxpayers

The first anniversary of General Eisenhower as Supreme Commander of the North Atlantic forces in Europe has brought forth a document which is generally accepted by both Republicans and Democrats.

Those who have been fearful that Eisenhower would follow in the tracks of Truman and offer to give the nations of Europe everything they demanded feel better about the possibility of the General as a GOP candidate. In his report he made it clear that America should not attempt to save those nations from the Communies unless the nations themselves are willing to put up money to build a defense wall against the communies.

That is the only sensible way to look at the situation. For instance, why should the American people be taxed to support a huge army in France when the French people refuse to pay taxes to support their own army?

It is possible that this is a cruel way to look at the situation, but we are sick and tired of being taxed to support a huge military machine in those countries where the people are not inclined to get in and defend themselves from the communies. France is only an example. America will soon be in as bad a situation as these other broke countries unless we stop giving away the resources of America to help those who refuse to help themselves.

Why Print So Much Political Situation?

"Why are you printing so much about politics?" asked an interested reader the other day.

Good question, here is a good answer.

Never before has there been so much interest in politics so early in the campaign as in 1952. Candidates for the presidency are running around the country trying to get votes. People here in Randall county are talking about politics as never before.

Perhaps we know no more about the political situation than the average man. However, we are printing so much in order to arouse interest among the voters — interest which will lead them to the precinct convention to be held May 3.

We know that the influence of the average voter in Randall county in selecting a president is mighty, mighty small, but after all, unless the people in Randall county are interested in their future president, we are fearful that the people throughout the nation will likewise be pretty lukewarm.

Get ready for the precinct convention, and go there determined to vote your sentiment.

If you're wondering where to go on your vacation this year, why not try staying home, where you have all the conveniences for every-day living. Eat out, forget all other work, and you'll have something.

Truman Has Best of Political Argument

It took a lot of courage for President Truman to face 5,000 friends and tell them that he would not be a candidate under any circumstance. He has had enough, and will retire from his job next January. As the result of this courage, Harry Truman is a bigger man today than he has been at any time during his administration.

The speech of the President was written for the purpose of forming a campaign document for the Democratic party. As campaign thunder, it was a good speech. As a matter of record it is filled with gross inequities—but what campaign document is not a pack of inconsistencies?

Naturally Mr. Truman painted the Republicans black as midnight. They are pictured as having been wholly responsible for the depression.

All of the governmental reforms were brought about by the Democrats, according to the President. These reforms, as GOP leaders will point out, consist of high taxes, deep freezes, milk coats, and income tax dodgers.

At any rate, the record which Mr. Truman has made will be the record of the Democratic party during the present campaign.

As a campaign document, we believe that the Democratic party has a stronger plea with the voters than the GOPers.

So far as we are personally concerned, we hope that the Democrats will have the good judgment to submit a ticket which will be acceptable to the people. The party has accomplished more for the average man than the Republicans, in spite of the Truman mess. Like millions of other folks in America, we are still holding our breath, and hoping for the best to come out of the conventions.

We shall see what we shall see.

Clean Up Campaign Threat by McGrath

Will President Truman spend the balance of his term in public office cleaning up the mess which has accumulated during his administration?

The President talked a lot about his clean administration in his speech to the faithful followers. His book, "Mr. President," is a pretty big boost to his so-called efficiency of government.

Yes, will he get rid of the grafters in government, or will they still insist in gathering around the governmental set-up like a bunch of flies swarm around the sugarbowl?

The President goes back to the GOP days of Harding in pointing a finger of scorn at the corruption in government. That is a long time back, considering all the graft and corruption which has been exposed in the past few weeks.

Now comes the hardest blow of them all. President Truman appointed a Republican, Newbold Morris, to clean up the government. If he knew at the time of appointment that Morris' record was not clean, the President is guilty of maladministration in public office. If he did not know that Morris was a member of the swindling group, the President did not make his investigation as thorough as it should have been made.

Okay, see what happened: The Attorney General of the United States refused to co-operate with G.O.P. Newbold Morris and fired him. McGrath was sent a questionnaire regarding his outside law practice, which he refused to fill out. His reason was that it was none of Investigator Morris' business as to how he made his money. The President fired McGrath as a result of the feud.

Will he clean up the mess? We shall see.

Pompous men hang on to special privileges and favored positions like drowning men hang on to a piece of wreckage, and for the same reason.

Every election causes half of the candidates to conclude that democracy is a failure.

Growth of Towns and Cities Offer Problems

Washington is worried about the increased population of the nation. It is predicted that by 1975 the nation cannot raise food necessary for all the people. At the same time we are told of the vast stores of food which Americans waste every year through riotous and wasteful living.

Why worry about this future problem, you may ask?

Facts are that with the centralization of population in the towns and cities of America, we have a critical situation right now. It is not a matter of food, but the question of what shall we do with the children of school age who are knocking at the doors of the schools and are entitled to the best school buildings and the best teachers.

In this day of high cost of living, teachers are quitting the profession which pays too small a salary in favor of industry in which there is a higher wage bracket, even for beginners.

The growth of population, centered around small towns, even like Canyon, is causing plenty of problems.

The question is simply this: Since the children are being brought by bus to the central plant in order to get better educational advantages, school houses and community centers are disappearing. Centralized schools mean better schools, but at a price. The pay of good teachers must be increased in order to compete with the demands of labor in other industries. The price increased the cost of building bigger and better school houses.

Dr. J. A. Hill met last week in Austin with a group of citizens who are interested in the future welfare of the school system. More money must be raised locally if the schools wish to compete with industry and to avoid federal aid, which means federal intervention.

In advertising, as everywhere else, truth pays, as does advertising.

Veep Barkley, Wife Seek White House

Vice President Barkley has indicated that he would be a candidate for the Presidency, if and when, conditions warranted it. There are a lot of hopefuls scattered around the nation who would like to take the job—if and when it was offered to them.

Personally the candidacy of Barkley looks like a huge joke. His 74 years may not seem too old to him, but to the voters of the nation, Barkley is simply too old to serve in this job. The Presidency is a man killer. We work our presidents to death. Perhaps the worry is a greater strain than the work. Keeping about 3 million federal employees honest and interested in their work is a huge job.

Barkley is connected too much with the old gang of political bosses who have been running the nation for too long a time. If he went to the White House, naturally his wife of a couple of years would enjoy the glamour of being the first lady of the nation, and would appreciate the glories of the newly refurnished White House. Perhaps she would make better use of the 238 hirelings who are on the government payroll to look after the White House than the Trumans have done. After all, we are not running this great government just for the purpose of providing a pleasant place for the Veep's wife; or a profitable job for the head of the household.

So far as we are concerned we tend to pass on when we meet somebody who is more interested in the world to come than the world at hand.

When was the last time you admitted being wrong in something? It should have been the last time you were wrong.

If you haven't been to church lately, you might try it. Maybe you will pick up something, and there is nothing to lose.

Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff to General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower: "It is getting more difficult all the time for an aggressor to attack with any degree of success."

Benefits from Electric Storms Are Explained

During the past few weeks the plains have taken a terrific lashing by wind and sand. The old adage, "It's an ill wind that blows no good," applies in this case. Although there has been some damage to crops, the electric winds have done some good, maintains G. W. Webb, weather observer in this area.

Electricity in the air is instrumental in burning the impurities in the atmosphere, says the weather observer. He explained that the impurities are lighter than the atmospheric pressure near the earth. This causes them to rise higher into the air where the atmospheric pressure is equal to their own. They remain there until an electrically charged wind forms and destroys them. This keeps the atmosphere purified and makes it possible for both plant and animal life to continue on earth.

There is no doubt about it, the wind and electricity have hurt the prospects for a good wheat crop. It was also pointed out that most of the wind has been fairly high in the air and has not done as much damage to crops as it would have had it been lower. There is still a possibility that wheat crops will be fairly good in this area. Several farmers in the area have reported that wheat crops are bearing up better than would ordinarily be expected under such conditions.

Many discomforts are brought on by the terrific wind and the irritating dust that always accompanies it but it's for a good cause. The cobwebs of impurities must be swept from the atmosphere to assure the continuation of life on earth. The wind and sand may be described as the spring housecleaning of the atmosphere by the elements.

Attempt Made To Step Up Nation's Iron, Steel Pile

Attempts to step up the iron and steel scrap inventories of the nation's steel mills and foundries to a safe operating level is being made by the United States Department of Commerce. The increase is hoped for in the removal of the purchase restrictions in the following quarter by auto wreckers who, in any given quarter, wreck out all 1939 or older model cars they had at the beginning of the period.

The recent order, known as M-92, also makes a change in the definition of "motor vehicles" to exclude certain buses whose parts are interchangeable and badly needed for replacement. It was also pointed out that the order deleted from the definition of "car unit" the phrase, "1,500 pounds of loose scrap" for a car unit and provides that no wrecker may acquire a greater number of vehicles during any quarter than he has junked in the preceding quarter.

The exception to the case being the fact that he has wrecked out a number of cars equal to the total number of pre-1940 model vehicles which were in his inventory at the beginning of the previous quarter.

It was explained that the original order exempted only those cars built from 1946 on, and also that vehicles from 1940 upward are in great demand and it is not in the public interest to scrap them unless absolutely necessary.

Field Day at Pantex Farm Will Be Held Friday This Week

The second annual field day will be held at Pan Tech Farms Friday, April 11. J. P. Smith, manager of Pan Tech Farms, says that all major research work carried on there will be discussed.

Beef cattle producers in this area should be particularly interested in the bull progeny test. Results of the feeding tests on 131 bulls representing 36 sire groups will be discussed. These animals have been on feed since last November. Breeders in the Panhandle have been cooperating with this station by furnishing sire groups for this test. This type of work is relatively new but could prove most valuable. The future may find livestock breeders selecting their cattle on feeding ability and rate of growth and gain, and they may be seeing the beginning of this important testing work.

There will be other subjects discussed during the day. The results of wheat pasture grazing studies will be given by the station scientists.

The president of Texas Tech, Dr. D. M. Wiggins, will make the welcome address. Dean W. L. Stengel from Tech, Dr. R. E. Patterson, Dr. Jack Miller and John Jones from Texas A. and M. College will appear on the program. The proposed greenbug research program will be discussed.

The program will start at 9:00 a. m. and will continue throughout the day with discussion groups and tours. A barbecue lunch will be served at noon for $1.00 per plate.

Firemen Seek Cooperation for More Efficiency

More specific information is usually needed when fire alarms are turned in, said one of the volunteer firemen last week. The exact location of a fire should be given and if it's a grass fire located some place out in the country, someone should stay near an appropriate gate to direct firemen to the scene of the fire. This would save time and help the fire department to do a more efficient job.

Another factor which creates delay of fire trucks in getting to the scene of the fire is careless motorists. It was pointed out that when the siren sounds, all motor vehicles should pull to the side of the street and stop until they are sure that the trucks are out of their immediate area. Then it is safe to proceed but great caution should be taken to make sure the fire truck is not delayed.

At least one near accident has been reported involving a fire truck and a motorist who failed to heed the siren and stop. Such an accident could lead to a double disaster. The wreck would be one and the delay of the truck in reaching the scene of the fire would be the other.

An efficient fire department is one of the finest assets any community can possess. In addition to giving the people a sense of security, it also lowers insurance rates by reducing the risk of the insurance companies. These things make it important for everyone to cooperate in order to have an efficient fire department.

School Children Motor Traffic Create Problem

A pressing safety problem that is ignored by a majority of people exists right now at the Canyon High School in the west part of town. The problem concerns motor traffic on 5th Avenue and the school children. This avenue divides the playground from the school house.

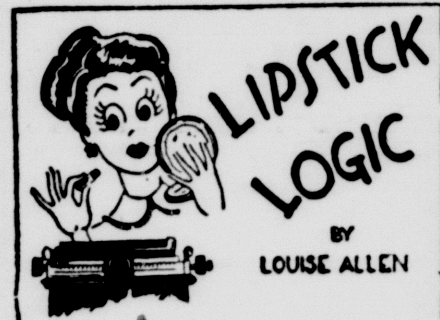

During recess and noon children who have been in classes pour from the school house with only one thought in mind. That thought is to get to the playground as quickly as possible. Often there are motorists driving down the street, and they too have only one thought in mind, to reach a destination as quickly as possible. So far no serious accident has occurred but teachers say that every day they witness escapes that are too close for comfort.

Closing of the street would create an inconvenience for the people in the west part of town. Superintendent Wooten explains that the signs placed in streets to warn motorists that it is a school zone were effective for a few days. Then it seems that people got used to them and practically ignored them.

Wooten went on to explain that a patrolman was needed during school hours for efficient traffic control.

Since last fall the school has been toying with the idea of a school boy patrol to alleviate the situation. Information has been obtained and organizations of this type studied from every angle. The facts are that a school boy patrol would not be completely efficient and the additional duties would probably do the child more harm than the good derived from them.

Teachers at the school would like a protective measure of some kind for the children. Superintendent Wooten said that no school day passed when some of the teachers did not get nervous because of a narrow escape witnessed between the school building and the playground south of it.

When it comes to hats — and like it or not, it usually does around Easter — women can be pretty sharply divided into those who like 'em and those who don't.

To the masculine eye, this distinction may not be apparent. The average man might argue that all women like hats; that the difference lies between those who like crazy hats and those who like sensible ones. Furthermore, they would class as 'crazy' any hat which, on Easter morning, vies with the preacher for attention.

But if a woman were asked to line the do's and don'ts up on opposite sides of the middle aisle, she's probably got half the fussy hats on one side, with an equal number of plain ones mixed in, and half on the other.

Indeed, the women who dislike all hats are more unpredictable when it comes to buying an Easter bonnet than their hat-loving sisters. One type will reason, "I won't wear this thing but once anyway, so what does it matter?" Another, perhaps timid by nature, will admiringly study some vivacious acquaintance, then select a bold number that suits her own personality about like a pink ribbon would suit a dachshund. Still another, protesting the whole idea, will choose the plainest model possible. Occasionally a woman with the courage of her convictions shows up amidst all the ribbons and flowers completely hatless.

Hat lovers, on the other hand, can be spotted less easily by their headgear than by their manner. To most of them, whether the hat cost $1.98 or $69.95 honestly doesn't matter. It's the spirit of venture. Whether they choose a small black straw or a huge flower basket, the experience is satisfying. Being a hat lover ourselves, we view with alarm the increase of feminine hat haters. In our gloomier moments we prophesy that the traditional Easter bonnet is by way of following the Easter rabbit into the land of legend.

Army Officer In High Praise for Work in Canyon

Last week the Chamber of Commerce received a letter from Capt. Adrian W. Buckingham, Commanding Officer of the 3469th School Squadron, concerning the departure of that organization from West Texas State College. The letter states that the last group of airmen will depart April 18 of this year. The permanent air personnel stationed here are scheduled to leave approximately 10 days later.

In the letter Capt. Buckingham praised the hospitality shown the airmen by local citizens. The commanding officer expressed the gratitude of all the airmen who had been here. The kindness and hospitality shown them has been exceptional, explained the Captain.

One of the greatest compliments possible to pay a community and its people came in the final paragraph of the letter which said: "Most of the personnel came from many states in the Union. They had heard of Texas as the Biggest State and other stories that Texans are proud to relate. These airmen, after having been in Canyon, left with the feeling that the size of Texas was surpassed only by the hearts of the citizens of Canyon."

Entebbe Airfield Cuts Travel Time Across Vast Africa

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The new British airfield recently opened at Entebbe, Uganda, is Africa's largest, with runways two miles long capable of handling the latest jet planes.

Built 250 miles south of the southern border of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, the field occupies a strategically important position between the Middle East and South Africa. It has the advantage of year-around good weather. Entebbe, capital of the British Uganda Protectorate, nestles on the north shore of Lake Victoria, where seaplanes also can land.

Reports from the Capital say Uganda's nearly five million tribesmen have taken the arrival of the jet age in stride. Early missionaries considered these Africans the most advanced of the entire central section of the continent. They quickly learned to cultivate cotton — now Uganda's most valuable cash crop. Tea, rubber and coffee plantations are profitable.

Modern methods and transportation have altered customs for many native families. They now live in rectangular stone and wood homes, rather than in rude beehive thatched dwellings. City men wear European clothing instead of bark cloth and animal skins. The women are inclined to cling to brilliantly colored native dress, and in the far interior, to old style brief covering.

Along with the jet age, inflation and price control have penetrated even the remote jungles. The local government was forced to do something when the prices of brides rose sky high. The price is now "frozen" at five head of cattle, five goats, and the equivalent of $2.00 in cash, per bride.

Soldier Needing Blood Gets Some He Donated

SAN FRANCISCO—The merits of being a blood donor were highlighted by the story of the soldier who needed blood and got it—blood that he had given two weeks before.

Pvt. Richard A. Norman, 23, Wapota, Wash., was injured when a lamp exploded in a kitchen while he was on mess duty. Severely burned about the legs, he needed a quick transfusion.

Two weeks before, Norman had donated a pint of blood to the armed services. A doctor just happened to pick up Norman's bottle when he started to give the transfusion.

Army Unit Goes All Out To Set New Blood Mark

Members of the 136th "Bearcat" Regiment, 47th Infantry ("Viking") Division, fall in at the blood collection center with a "pay line" enthusiasm—everyone is there.

As a result, the former National Guard regiment recently became the Army's first major unit to post a 100 per cent donation record.

The unique response over-subscribed the blood collection quota for the division's station at Camp Rucker, Ala., and drew the praise from both the Chief of Army Field Forces, General Mark W. Clark, and the 47th Division commander, Major General Norman E. Hendrickson.

Sparking the campaign's success was a former member of the 136th Regiment, Private Richard C. Gilley, Warren, Mass., who was wounded in Korea. A national magazine's picture (Life, Oct. 22) of Private Gilley receiving life-sustaining blood became a symbol to his one-time troop-mates in Company I and 19 other "Bearcat" units.

Major General Hendrickson personally congratulated the last man to contribute to the regiment's "all-out" collection campaign, Private First Class Dale Dunn, Brigham City, Utah.

And General Clark's congratulations were delivered in a letter to the regiment's commanding officer.

Run-Away Romeo Wanted Just a Goodbye Kiss

DETROIT — Just one more kiss was all he wanted, a 27-year-old man said when recaptured after escaping from guards while under a sentence for burglary.

Police had found him at his girl's home.

The run-away Romeo was Donald Mace, Akron, Ohio. When captured, Mace complained that a jail guard wouldn't allow him to kiss his girl friend goodbye when she came to visit him.

He said that he had to talk to her through a wire screen and "since I was going away for a long time, I wanted to kiss her good-bye."

Man Proves He's 'Irish' By Pole Climbing Feat

EAST NEWARK, N.J. — "I'm Irish and I just wanted to prove it," police quoted a man who teetered atop a 365-foot chimney for an hour.

Clarence Gillen, 31, Harrison, N.J., almost overcome by smoke, climbed down from his lofty perch and was led away to jail for investigation. Police said that he used scaffolding around the brick chimney of a mill plant to aid his climb.

When police arrived, Sgt. Joseph Duffy called to the sitter "Are you going to jump?"

Gillen peered down and replied "Do you think I'm that crazy?"

Shell Collectors Dredge Mollusks On Ocean Floor

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Since prehistoric times adults and children have collected sea shells, picking up pretty and unusual specimens found along the shores.

Scientists have used shells to explain marine life, the nature of coasts and waters and the geologic past. Fossil shell remains have guided geologists almost since the study of geology began.

The collection of shells for their own sake, on a scientific basis, however, has steadily gained in popularity in the last few years. The science is called conchology, and some collectors have spent thousands of dollars in pursuit of shells.

Heavy expenditures followed the discovery that the best shells are not found along shores as often as on the ocean bottom or on reefs.

Almost all shell collectors start by picking up specimens on the beach. Then they wade out in shallow water, using water glasses to locate their quarry.

From this stage the really earnest conchologists move to boats. They find that the shells have greater beauty and brilliance if taken when the mollusks are still living inside.

For this reason a small number of collectors, many of them in Florida, have equipped cabin cruisers and fishing boats with small power dredges to explore the ocean floor at depths from two to more than 100 fathoms.

Off both Florida coasts shellers dredge the bottom and bring up living mollusks of all sizes, which are sorted mechanically through progressively smaller screens down to the size of ordinary window screen mesh.

The Florida enthusiasts, particularly those working in the Gulf of Mexico, also use their boats to reach outlying reefs where, in very calm water and at low tide, they collect shells found nowhere else. This work, like offshore wading, is done with the aid of water glasses and rock turners, long iron rods with points and hooks used to uncover mollusks hiding beneath underwater rocks.

Impatient Pin Setter Fined for Hasty Strike

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — An impatient bowling pin setter was fined for scoring a strike on his boss.

William Hardesty, 24, according to testimony, rapped on the floor with a pin because bowlers were going too slow to suit him. He got paid by the game, not the hour. The bowlers complained to ally manager Peter Edelman and when he remonstrated with Hardesty, was struck in the mouth. Edelman has lately hired a less temperamental pin setter.

Wolf Menace Increasing Rapidly in Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — The wolf menace is increasing rapidly in Yugoslavia. Last year (1951) the livestock losses attributed to wolves were much higher than the 37,000 reported for 1950. The animals have become so bold, it is reported, that they freely roam the plains around Belgrade.

Observers say that the continued increase in the number of wolves may be accredited to the war. During the war there was no time nor ammunition for hunting wolves. At the end of the war, the people had to turn in their guns, leaving only scattered members of hunting associations to hunt the animals.

In Slovenia, a province that once had no wolves, or so few they were rare, there is now a reported 150. A hunting federation pays $150 for each full grown wolf that is killed.

Nosy Nosepuncher is Hard Man to Give Information

NEW YORK—How nosy can a nose-puncher get?

Edward Wilkins, 18, of Hoboken, N.J., was arraigned and charged with breaking the nose of a Pennsylvania Station baggageman in two places.

Detectives who arrested him at the scene asked Wilkins why he had beaten Murray Dworsken, 35, the station baggageman.

"I asked him how to get to the Hudson tubes and he directed me wrong," they quoted Wilkins as saying.

"But how do you know he directed you wrong," they asked, and Wilkins replied:

"I knew how to get there. I just wanted to see what he'd say."

Ex-Slave, 111, looking Forward to Next New Year

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. — William Johnson, born a slave, recently saw in his 111th year, and is looking forward to 1953. He thinks he was born September 15, 1841.

Johnson says that he clearly remembers incidents of the Civil War when he was young and that he was captured by "Yankees."

The bearded, white-haired Negro is the father of 10 children, has 39 grandchildren, 72 great-grandchildren, and 46 great-great-grandchildren.

His eldest son, Rev. Willie Johnson, 82, is pastor of two Baptist churches in Kentucky. His youngest son is 49.

Johnson was born in Johnsonville, Tenn., on the Robert Turner farm.

BOYCE HOUSE

Gives You Texas

A road-runner can kill a rattlesnake. Not only a little ground rattler or an immature specimen, but a hardy diamond-back, wearing six or eight rattles, Ralph A. Sells declares.

William Witte of San Antonio furnished the data for this description. The large rattlesnake was in his coil with his head bowed above when the "paisano" (road-runner) began making passes towards him. At first, the road-runner circled around at a safe distance. The snake made his rattles buzz, almost like a tune, and sometimes he would push out of his forked tongue. After much pretense, darting forward and falling back, the bird began hopping and dancing about, often threatening to strike. This seemed to anger the snake, and he began to threaten and after a little more teasing, to strike.

The snake had made several strikes at the bird, but none of them were even close. Now the bird changed his tactics. When the snake made a long strike, almost his length, and fell down on the ground, the bird gave him a hard stroke just behind the head. After this was repeated several times, the snake quit jumping so far, — he was more careful. But as the snake began to show caution, the bird increased his blustering attack. With a clattering noise, he would rush forward many times without making a strike.

Then, from a distance, he would rush forward with his wings half-spread and tail erect, and with wings and tail flexed, ready to spread, he would come and deliver a lightning-like blow, just one fierce thrust and a retreat. Somehow, the sharp-pointed bill seemed to seek the same spot each time. The agile bird attacked like an expert fencer.

As the snake became less alert, the bird made regular dashes and delivered a stroke each time. The fight was over. And the bird came through without a scratch.

Al Evans of KGNC
Read Tuesday at The Rotary Lunch

Al Evans, KGNC announcer from Amarillo, gave the program Tuesday at the Rotary Club. Mr. Evans was presented by Dean Walter Juniper of West Texas State.

Mr. Evans used his Bible in reading familiar passages which are often poorly read. He advocated that families and groups have reading regularly aloud and that group discussion follow in order to bring out the thoughts of the writers.

Evans first read from the Psalms and then from the Sermon on the Mount. He stated that in no other literature was there such childlike faith and such beauty of expression as found in the Bible.

Visitors were Bureau Scott, Stuart Condon, Capt. Adrian Buckingham, all of Canyon; Bob Garrett, Dr. A. M. Meyer, Carl W. Franz, W. H. Torrey, Harry Beck, Frank Edwards, James F. Pierce, all of Amarillo.

A film on cotton and its importance in the Air Force was shown at Lions Club luncheon Wednesday. The film showed vast fields of cotton. Then moving on to a specific setting the picture singled out a farm. A father and his son were shown coming out of the farm house and the son held a letter in his hand. The letter was explained as being the son's appointment to aviation cadet training.

The story went on to show the cadets in their entire program of training. The film was based on play in the Air Force. Everywhere the importance cotton products the cadets went they were surrounded by cotton products. Their clothes and a large part of their equipment was made up of cotton material.

There was also an announcement concerning the coming Lion's show which will be a minstrel. Plans were being made to start rehearsal Thursday night of last week. Approximately 20 Lions volunteered to take part in the show.

Two guests entertained by the Lions were Jeff Posten and Cal Lovelace.

WARREN'S

Many citizens of Texas are learning a great deal about their precinct conventions.

In other years, these gatherings, generally, were attended by very small numbers of people. The party machinery was in the hands of a minority.

Today, because of a struggle between the "Conservative" and the "Loyal" Democrats, more of us are learning what a precinct convention is all about, and we are planning to attend one.

But there are many questions that arise and some of them are complex. For example, one might ask why Governor Allan Shivers is asking for an uninstructed delegation from Texas to the national Democratic convention in Chicago. Well, the reason for that is to give Texas some strength and put the delegates in a trading position so they can select as the Democratic Presidential nominee a man who is acceptable to Texas and the South.

Such a man would understand our problems and be sympathetic with our point of view. For instance, he would be familiar with the tidelands issue and would know our logic supporting the contention that the submerged lands ought to remain in the possession of the states.

Inasmuch as Texas is taken for granted as being Democratic, we have been ignored sometimes in the party councils, and most consideration has been given to doubtful states in order to win their support.

The "Conservative" Democrats are thinking along this line: With an uninstructed delegation at Chicago, the various seekers after the presidential nomination will seek our representatives and hear from them something about Texas, our problems, and the kind of federal government we want.

Not settled yet is the question of whether persons who attend the precinct conventions should be required to take the loyalty oath, pledging themselves to support the Democratic nominee for president.

The "Loyal" Democrats say the pledge should be taken. They contend the strength of the party is in its unity; that we should settle our differences within the party and present a solid front at the general election.

The position of the "Conservative" Democrats is that they don't know, right now, whether a pledge should be taken or not; and if so, then what kind of pledge. This faction is waiting for a legal opinion, requested by the State Democratic Executive Committee, and due to be handed down April 18.

The thinking of some conservatives is that there should be no pledge at all, and that none is required by the new state election law. These observers say that Texas will most likely go Democratic in any event—pledge or no pledge—but that without one the high Democratic brass would be more likely to listen to Texans at Chicago.

Others say it would be better to take some kind of pledge, thereby removing the likelihood of "rump" conventions whose delegates might be recognized at Chicago.

Still another school of thought is that the party loyalty pledge is a matter of state law and therefore does not apply to a national election. According to that theory, you would, if you took the pledge, be bound to support the party presidential

New Bridge Replaces Old Structure

The two bridges in this picture represent the old and the new on the old Amarillo highway northwest of town. The one with the bannisters was the old bridge and was said to be about 50 years old. It was a one-way bridge with an approximate 20 foot clearance from side to side. The new bridge was constructed with four type "C" 10 gauge Armco steel cylinders. They are 28 feet long, have a six foot rise, are eight feet and eleven inches wide and have 12 inch thick reinforced concrete buttments. This new structure leaves about 26 feet for road clearance. Complete cost to the county is said to be about $7,000 with most of the work being done by road men. Shown in the lower picture is P. H. Baber, commissioner of precinct No. 1.

nominee on the state level only, and thereafter you would be free from your obligation.

I believe that the legal opinion to be given on April 18 is going to clarify this confusion, and that you will understand the status of the loyalty pledge before you go to your precinct convention.

Congratulations

Co-operativeness and kindness is greatly appreciated, the students of Canyon High School find out.

Students of CHS show that they are proud of their school in many ways. Recently, a request was made of the members to help keep the buildings and grounds of CHS clean by depositing candy wrappers, chewing gum papers, and other trash in cans placed in and around the building for this purpose. A willing response was made and the custodians expressed their appreciation for the observance of this request.

A much cleaner and better appearance of the school is produced when all "pitch in" and help, not leaving all of the work to the custodians of our school.

Students of CHS, you're doing a grand job, and everyone appreciates it. Let's continue.

Tumbling Act Given By Acrobatic Team

John Cress created excitement in the student body of CHS when he suspended himself in the air with one hand gripped on a chair supported by coke bottles sitting on a table and upheld the chair in which his partner, Chuck Jones, was sitting with the other hand. Mr. Cress and Mr. Jones, acrobatic team, presented an assembly of tumbling and trampoline acting April 4.

Different acts composed of the mat dusters, hand-spring acts, and trampoline performances were acted with gracefulness and efficiency on the part of the team.

Mr. Cress acted as the master of ceremonies throughout the entire program. As a comedy act, he explained how his partner, Mr. Jones, first learned how to bounce on the trampoline in Kansas. After arriving in Texas, Jones changed his tactics by bouncing lower and at a greater speed on the mat, somewhat resembling a cowboy on his horse.

Mr. Cress gave his comical idea of how a ballet star danced with professional gracefulness and expertness.

Additional comedians on the program were Bob Ratliff, Dwayne Retherford, and Don McDonald. CHS students, who performed as unrehearsed amateurs on the program.

Homemaking Class Visits Local Store

Sophomore girls in the third period Home Economics class visited the meat department of Cooper's Grocery Thursday, April 3, accompanied by Mrs. Carolyn Dubbert, head of Canyon High School Home Economics department.

This class has been studying the different types of meats, and the purpose of the field trip was to show the students the regular cuts of meat in relation to the fore and hind-quarter of beef.

Mr. Boston, who is in charge of Cooper's meat department, aided the class in its study by showing the students the different cuts of meat in his department.

The 15 girls participating in the field trip were: Doris Bourn, Ruby Brown, Janelda Cunningham, Rae June Cabe, Virginia Holt, Louise Hunter, Wynelle Montgomery, Frances Pennington, Annette Pond, Nora Dell Ruthart, Barbara Sparks, Patsy Vandergriff, and Wilma Cooper.

BAND SOCIAL

Approximately 30 members of the high school band and band parents participated in a swimming party at the West Texas State College Friday, April 4.

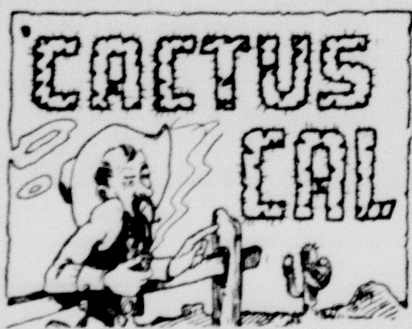

Swimming, diving, water ball, and other water games were enjoyed by every member present.

Refreshments of bottled drinks and Hi-Ho cracker sandwiches were served by the refreshment committee in the Administration Building Gymnasium.

Martin Presents Recital Tonight

VIRGIL MARTIN

Virgil Martin, Jr., talented son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Martin, will give his senior piano recital Wednesday, April 9, at 8:15 p. m. in the Branding Iron Theater of West Texas State College.

Busted Reviews Reptile Creations

"The fear of reptiles is not inherited, it is acquired," said Dr. Robert C. Busted, head of the Biology Department at West Texas State College, as he gave his talk on reptiles at the monthly meeting of the Science Club Thursday, April 3, in the home of Mrs. Joseph Findley.

"Snakes are biologically important, and some of them are dangerous. But if a bull snake would appear, I would pull back! A young child is not afraid, but after a few lessons, the child learns to fear the reptile. There are certain biological factors about these creatures, midst all this smack of superstition." Dr. Busted pointed out the various superstitions concerning snakes and reptiles, which have been evolved through the years, and showed how each was false.

The club members will meet during the summer months. Activities will be left to the members but field trips will fill the main project.

As yet, the group has chosen no name for the club.

Ten new members were listed on the roll. They were Bobby Hardaway, JoAnn Mickey, George Dowlen, Bob Cole, Virginia Holt, Jean Stone, Don Hicks, John Miller, Florence Coffee and Lawrence Hermesmeier.

Robert V. Seliger, psychiatrist: "Restless and adventurous youth seek to solve their problems by tampering with alcohol, dope, sex and robbery and other crimes of violence because of the poor examples set by adults."

Formal Initiation Of NHS Is Held

Initiation of seventeen newly elected members of the National Honor Society was the highlight of the organizational meeting last week.

Wayne Bassett, president, officiated at the ceremony, giving a speech on the purpose and ideals of the club. Doyle Green, senior, gave the glories of "Manhood" in a poem. Talks on the following subjects were given: service, leadership, character, and scholarship.

Raymond Henders, Bette McGehee, Virginia Rigsby, and Richard Sanders, all seniors, presented these speeches to the new members and the audience of parents and friends. Bettie Graham sang the beautiful song "The Lord's Prayer" before the recessional.

Introduction of each new member was made by Shirley Erwin, secretary, as an old member directed each new member to his place on the stage. Florence Coffee, an old member and a senior, accompanied them on the piano during the presentations. A key, representing the medium to opening the door of knowledge, was given to each newly elected member.

Decorations of yellow gladiolus trimmed with dark blue ribbons emphasized the large National Honor Society emblem which was placed in the center of the stage. These flowers also accented the blue napkins at the reception that followed the initiation ceremony. In gold letters the name of the society was printed on the blue napkins, adding much to the beauty of the reception.

Activity Census Given Students

To study and evaluate the curriculum of activities offered in CHS was the purpose of the activity census taken by the students March 31.

Of the 34 activities offered in and pertaining to CHS, the greatest number listed was fifteen and only one student is engaged in that total.

Only three students out of the 280 enrolled are not affiliated with any of the activities; 41 students are active in at least three organizations, and 38 pupils are engaged in as many as six activities.

This poll enables the faculty members to determine the types of activities desired by students and is of the most benefit to students.

Students Compete In District Contest

Shorthand and typing contests were entered by some of the students of Canyon High, which was held April 5, at West Texas State College.

Sherma Dixon and Ellen Jo Jennings represented Canyon in the district shorthand contest. There were five participants in the contest, three from Phillips and two from Canyon.

An 80 word per minute dictation test over new material for five minutes was the examination. The two winners in the district will compete in the regional contest on April 19 in Lubbock and the winners there will go to state.

Richard Sanders, Laura Smith, Shirley Marshall, and Frances Cunningham entered the district typing contest.

A 15 minute timed test was given to them. The first three top winners will enter the regional contest in Lubbock. Two winners of the regional contest will enter the state contest.

Something new has been added down at The News office and it's a great honor to add it too. Mr. Warwick brought it home from the Panhandle Press Association convention in Amarillo last week. The new addition is a plaque for the best editorials of the year. So, if you want to keep up with the issues that are happening, when they are happening, remember to check the editorial section of The Canyon News. In case you don't recognize what that last sentence is, it's what's commonly known as a plug.

Speaking of plugs reminds us that someone must have pulled one last week to let all that wind and sand pour in on us. Looks as though the March winds spilled over into the month of April. That will tend to give April showers an excuse to stick around until May. If the people had their preference they would probably select the April showers during March and April too. At any rate there are more complaints about wind and dust than there are about showers.

The April showers have nothing in common with the showers of complaints we had last week. If you're one of those persons who caught a mistake in the story about Harold Wetzal, you have plenty of company. Mr. Wetzal was elected vice-president of the Panhandle branch of the Texas Hospital Association. Somewhere in the long, cumbersome lead sentence, those words managed to get lost. Our apologies are extended to Mr. Wetzal and all those people who scratched their head trying to figure out just what the story was all about.

Noticed some little word gems in something last week and one of them said, "a person can rather accurately be measured by the size of the thing that makes him angry." There's a lot of truth in that word gem but it reminds us of another we heard some time ago. This one said that a person could be measured by the way he treats those beneath him. A person has to be nice to his superiors, but it takes a really big person to treat someone in an inferior position with equal courtesy to those in a higher position.

Right about here each week we manage to get in a few chirps of wisdom. This week it seems appropriate to start the ball rolling with a rather serious chirp. This one is "Life isn't all you want — It's all you have."

There's hope for the nation as long as the red-blooded people outnumber the blue-bloods.

The only way to get the best of an argument is to avoid it.

If you win with a smile, lose the same way.

Progress involves risk, you can't steal second base and keep your foot on first.

This week our visiting citizen in the news light is Paul Boswell of Pampa. Paul is a sophomore at West Texas State College and plays tackle on the Buffalo football team. Last year he was president of the freshman class and is a senator of the sophomore class this year.

While attending school here Paul is making his home at the Buffalo Courts. He is a member of the Buffalo T-Club and plans to teach school as well as coach football when his school days are over.

Here's an open letter recently received by The Canyon News in connection with the recent cessation of duties by the Canyon Community Recreational Council:

With the recent "folding" of the Recreational Council, I am reminded of what people say when Johnny gets a new toy, "Oh, well, he'll be tired of it in a few weeks."

When Mr. Cecil Massey was hired for recreation work here, I imagine that no one was happier than I. To me it meant a dream come true. Now you might say that I am completely crushed.

I hope that the good people of the community rise up in protest to this action. If the youth of this community are to have something constructive to do it will have to be from the, now extinct, council or the Chamber of Commerce. I only hope that someone has the perseverance to see things through.

Sincerely yours,
Eugene Hill.

Cost-Plus Contracts

The need for defense expenditures and the tremendous cost of weapons for our continued strength with which to oppose armed aggression cannot be discounted. Every American is ready, able and willing to step forward on a moment's notice and provide whatever is necessary in order to defend our way of life. However, this does not mean that the military is entitled to a blank check that is to be paid for out of the taxpayers' pockets.

The tremendous costs of the preparedness program is all the more reason for the exercise of business principles in carrying out this program. Unless some of the tactics employed in obtaining the materials and weapons necessary for our defense are changed, our entire economy could be in danger.

I have particular reference to the cost-plus contracts that are still blighting this country. They are of two general types (1) The cost-plus fixed fee; (2) The cost plus fixed percentage fees based on a percentage of cost.

No one needs to be advised that such contracts encourage spending. In addition, they actually invite all kinds of trick artifices and schemes of a financial nature.

In recent proceedings before the House of Representatives it was brought out by Congressman Gore of Tennessee that during the hearings concerning some of the appropriations General Thomas Farrell appeared as a witness. He held the position of Assistant General Manager of the Atomic Energy Commission. His salary was $17,500 a year. He was hired away from this employment by ARO, a corporation organized under the laws of Tennessee for the purpose of making a contract with the Air Corps and obtaining a fee for operating the aerodynamic wind tunnel facility at Tullahoma, which is now under construction.

General Farrell was hired by ARO at a salary of $30,000 per year. This of course was quite an advance for General Farrell and no doubt from a personal standpoint he was justified in leaving the government and going to work for ARO. However, when we look into the matter we find that under the cost-plus-fee contract under which ARO was operating, the taxpayers of the United States were actually paying the $30,000 salary of General Farrell, because the Government was having to pay the cost of the project and this cost included the salary paid by the ARO Corporation to General Farrell.

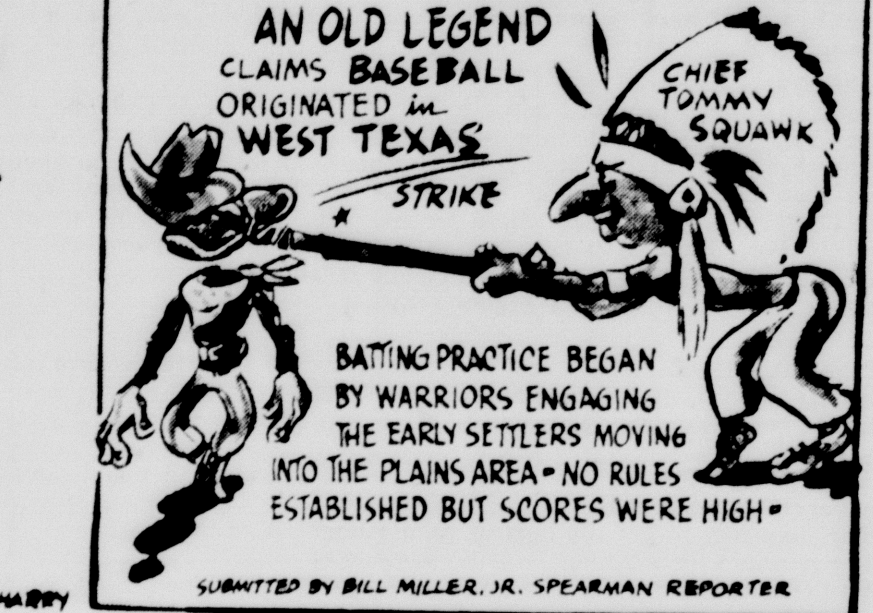

The Committee felt that General Farrell was an able and distinguished man and doing a fine job for the Atomic Energy Commission at his $17,500 a year salary. This transaction is a perfect example of the fallacy of cost-plus contracts, and it is like a man and his wife at an auction sale bidding against each other. It doesn't make any difference which one gets the article, the family bank account will pay the bill. Much more has been uncovered, and I wish space would permit me to include it in this letter.

We all understand that there are certain matters that could probably be justified on a cost-plus basis; for example, the contract for construction of weapons that could not be let on competitive bids because of the secrecy of the weapon involved. Another example is the construc-

Perryton Is Host To Officers of The Plains Area

Deputy Sheriff Pounds and Homer Ewton attended the all day conference program for Panhandle peace officers in Perryton Thursday. Pounds described the all day conference as having the precision of clockwork.

Registration for the meeting started at 9 o'clock in the morning. It was scheduled to end at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and Pounds said it was less than ten minutes after 4 o'clock when the conference ended.

After the meeting was called to order the officers were introduced to each other. Following the introductions there was a round table discussion of burglaries. Investigation of burglaries was the subject of the speech of Ranger Captain Raymond Water of Lubbock. Other information given the peace officers included, 'How to arrest a burglar' and 'Arrest and extradition of a fugitive.'

The Ochiltree County Chamber of Commerce provided lunch for the visiting officers. During the lunch period there were talks by such officers as Paul Gaither of Amarillo and Hugh Anderson of Borger. Later the officers were shown pictures of known criminals and a short talk was given on each one by Texas Ranger Frank Probst.

Pounds also explained that business men can attend the conferences the same as peace officers. In fact, he said, many of the crime phases discussed should be familiar to all business men. Such things as knowing the person before accepting his check or how to turn in a burglary alarm. It was explained that the best time to turn in the alarm is as quickly as the burglary is discovered. Often the little things found at the scene of a crime are highly instrumental in the final apprehension of the guilty person or persons.

The personal contact provided by the conferences was explained as being one of the most valuable points of the meeting. When officers can meet each other and know each other personally, they can work with each other better, Pounds explained.

He finished by saying that the next conference of this nature would be held in Borger on May 8.

In explaining the invitation to business men to attend the burglary conferences, Pounds grinned and said, "Burglars aren't classified as business men; therefore, not invited."

He also commented that in the event a fugitive desired to stick his neck out the conference would be a good place to do it. Some member of the many law enforcement agencies would be sure to recognize the fugitive, Pounds explained.

Crossing Gates To Go In Soon

Canyon will soon have safety crossing gates at the 15th Street railroad crossing. This information was released by City Secretary Dudley Bayne late last week. Work on the project should get started within a week or ten days.

The information came from T. J. Anderson, superintendent of the Plains division of the Santa Fe Railway Company. The letter that contained the information was addressed to Mayor A. L. Walsh. It was in answer to Mr. Walsh's letter of March 27 in regard to the installation of the safety gates.

Mr. Anderson's letter was dated April 1 and states that the material for the job was in the process of being assembled at that time.

General Eisenhower hopes to have the European Army treaty initiated by May 1.

PROBABLY HISTORY

Tradition doesn't say, but it may be assumed there were those in Sodom and Gomorrah who said a little of that sort of things does a town no harm.

Rise in family troubles is laid to tensions of times.

CHEAPER TO LIVE

A bus advertisement for an insomnia cure offers "30 deep sleeps for $1." An adjacent sign advertises, "Wake up and live — 79 cents."

Rise of 30 per cent in food expenditure by 1960 is seen.

Willie Sutton, bank robber, now on trial for his life: "The virus of evil is contagious and destructive. Unless you avoid its contagion, you will know many moments of sorrow."

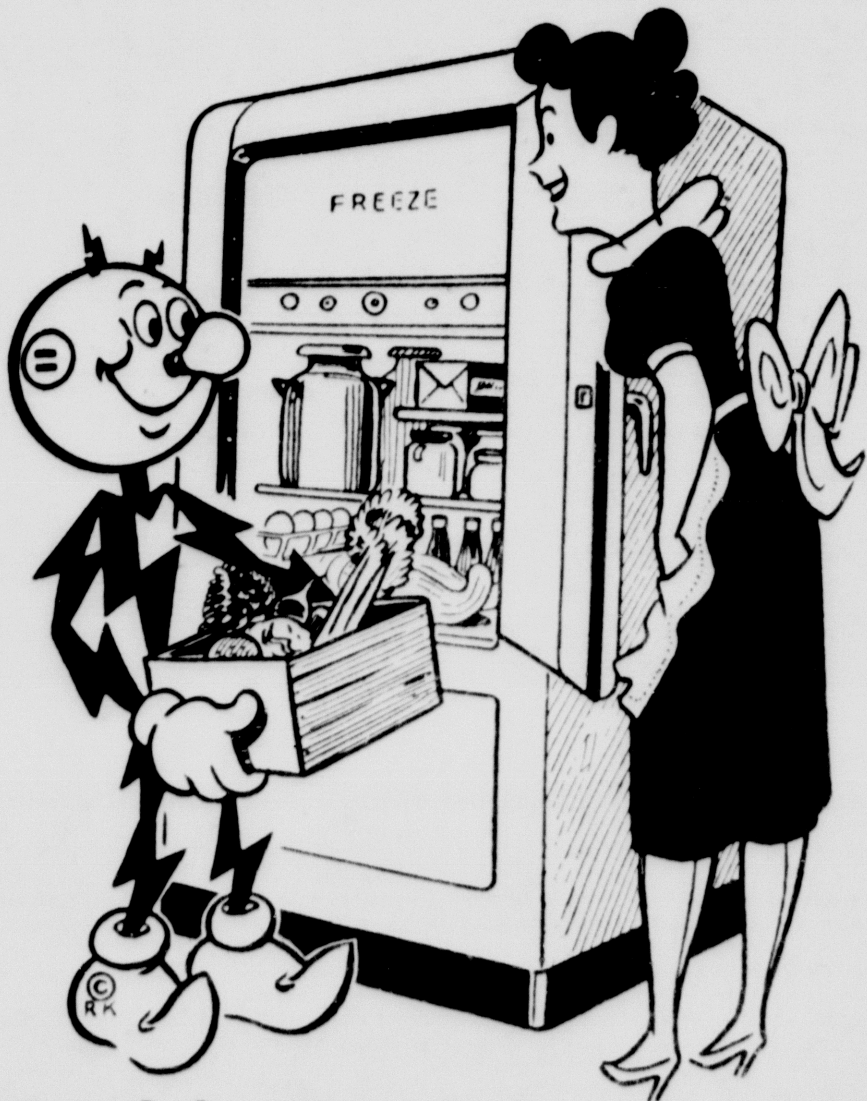

Porter says U. S. backs Europe farm pool plan.
